

Y HOLDS SECOND BIG COLOR DAY

Vivian Krisel and Lorane Shonefelt Have Complete Charge of Annual Affair

SALE IS CONTINUED

The second annual University of Omaha Color Day, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. of the school, was observed Friday, Oct. 11. Vivian Krisel and Lorane Shonefelt, chairmen appointed by the two organizations, were in complete charge of the affair.

Promotes School Spirit

Megaphones, in felt of cardinal and black, vied in popularity with canes on which pennants of the same color were attached. These souvenirs were sold to promote school spirit at football games, particularly the Chadron game Saturday.

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. were supported in the project by members of the recently organized Cardinal Pep Club, directed by Joe Kubat. The pennants and megaphones were also for sale at the game Saturday and are now being sold at the book store.

One-Third Sold Out

According to those in charge, students and faculty members appeared to be much more interested in Color Day this year than in the previous one. Fully one-third of the materials offered were purchased before the day was over.

University Band Again Has Parade

Sponsored by Pep Club to Advertise Game With Chadron

The University Band, under the direction of Joe Wandscheer, paraded through the downtown streets both Friday and Saturday noons, October 11 and 12, to advertise the Omaha-Chadron game.

The band formed in front of the Court House, attracting a crowd while it played Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." From the Court House it marched down Farnam street to 15th, across on 15th to Harney, turned west on Harney to 16th, turning again on 16th, continued marching on 16th to Dodge, then east on Dodge to 15th, from Dodge over to Douglas, and then up Douglas to 17th, and from there on 17th to Farnam and back to the Court House.

Led by Police

The parade was led by police officers, who directed the traffic to stop as the band came to intersections. Several university students carried large signs to notify the public that there was to be a game Saturday afternoon and also to inform them that they were listening to the University of Omaha band.

The arrival of the new uniforms is expected shortly, according to Mr. Osaman of the Browning-King Clothing Company, through whom the uniforms were ordered. A detailed description of the uniforms will be given later.

428 Enrollment At Creighton U

SMOKING BANNED

Acting upon the suggestion of Dean Rene Stevens and Dean Gilbert W. James, the Pan-Hellenic council decided on Monday, Oct. 14, to advise each member of the Greek organizations to promote a spirit at school dances which would frown upon smoking in the buildings.

BUREAU ORGANIZES

The Service Bureau of the Conservatory of Music has organized for the new semester under the direction of Miss Gertrude True. The Bureau supplied a boys' orchestra for the first engagement of the new term.

500 Word Essay Contest Opened

Collegiates Enter Radio Field to Vie for Majestic Prizes

"It is easy to write an essay of 500 words, especially when it is a contest for a beautiful prize," are the words of Mary Jane Caldwell, winner of the 1928 beauty contest at the University of Illinois, who has just entered her essay in the Majestic-College Humor Radio Contest.

Is Open to All Collegiates

This contest which is open to all college undergraduates offers as prizes five modern Majestic radios for the five best 500 word essays on—"Why We Bought a Majestic Radio" or "Why Our Next Radio Will be a Majestic." All manuscripts must be typewritten and sent to Grigsby-Grunow Company, Chicago, before November 10.

W. J. Guy, University of Chicago student, and Whit Wright, of the University of Illinois, were the first to send their essays to the Contest Editor. It is interesting to note that collegians from every part of the country are entering this contest.

"If I win," says W. J. Guy, "this Majestic is going to find a place in my fraternity house. The old Sigma Chi House at Chicago needs a good radio and my only hope is that I win the beautiful combination radio and phonograph which is offered as first prize, because it is the finest I have ever seen."

Has Three Judges

The judges in this nation-wide contest for collegians only will be Karlton Hackett, Director of the American conservatory of Music; H. N. Swanson, Editor of College Humor; and James Weber Linn, Professor of English at the University of Chicago. Winners will be announced in the February issue of College Humor.

Wandscheer Aids Valley Rehearsal

Due to the fact that Professor Noel J. Logan is now directing the Diamond Jubilee Chorus, he was unable to attend the regular rehearsal of the Missouri Valley unit of the Messiah chorus, Tuesday, Oct. 8.

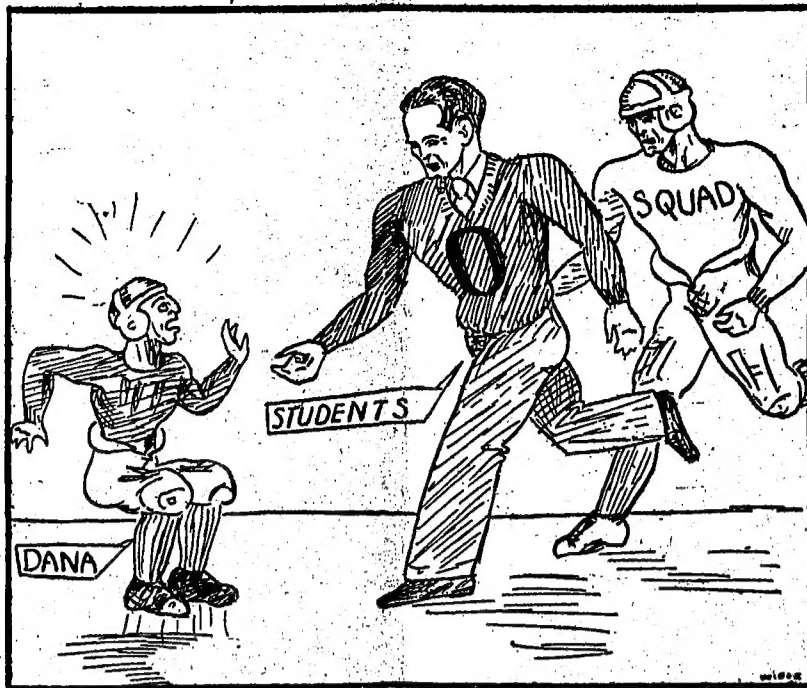

Mr. Harry Fleming was engaged to fill Mr. Logan's place, but due to sudden illness was forced to abandon the trip. Joe Wandscheer, university band major, after consultation with Mr. Logan, directed the practice of the entire word score of the oratorio.

Reports from the chorus indicate that the practice was very successful.

Specialist Speaks To Omaha Meds

Modern X-Ray Has Other Uses Besides Place in Medicine

Dr. A. F. Tyler, Omaha X-Ray specialist, and instructor at Creighton Medical School, spoke Oct. 10 to thirty-five members of the Pre-Medical club. The subject of his address was "The History, Development, and Modern Uses of the X-Ray."

Tells of X-Ray

During the address, he told of the discovery of the X-Ray by Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist, early in 1895. He also told the students that the first public use of the X-Ray was in America before the official announcement of the discovery in Europe.

Tracing the development of the machines through the thirty years from 1895 to the present time. Dr. Tyler pointed out that the machines which formerly took thirty minutes for an exposure now do the same work instantaneously.

Has Other Uses

The X-Ray finds many uses outside of the doctor's office, according to the lecturer, some of which are: Rayings of steel castings, detection of faked antique paintings, and hastening or retarding of germination of seeds in agricultural schools.

"From a machine which was originally considered of value only to the doctor, the X-Ray has come to be of immense importance in the commercial world," said Dr. Tyler, in concluding his lecture.

Extension Courses Given Approval

The work inaugurated in the Council Bluffs extension department seems to be meeting with favor with the town's teachers, according to Irwin A. Hammer, head of the Department of Education.

The classes scheduled have had a fair sized attendance considering the novelty of the endeavor. The University teachers have a regular schedule, and are promoting new thoughts in their study.

Registration is still open.

Hugh R. Orr Gives Lecture on O'Neill

"Strange Interlude" Is One of Writer's Most Valued Productions

Professor Orr presented a short sketch on the life and works of Eugene O'Neill, Monday, Oct. 7, at 10 o'clock in Room 2. "Strange Interlude," the most recent of O'Neill's plays, was presented that evening at the Brandeis Theater. Eugene O'Neill is the greatest living American dramatist and is the first American dramatist to win international fame. It was Professor Orr's desire to give his listeners a better appreciation of the O'Neill works.

Has Four Topics

Prof. Orr divided the talk into four main topics, taking as his first the early life and adventures of O'Neill. He mentioned O'Neill's adventures on the sea and his early life in New York.

Second, he discussed O'Neill's plays, mentioning his leading plays and giving short reviews of them.

He next discussed O'Neill's technique and method, saying, "Eugene O'Neill is an innovator in drama. He has broken away from many of the conventional rules of drama but has remained true to the great laws of dramatic art. His latest work, 'Strange Interlude,' we classify under the term expressionism, which is an effort on the part of the artist to reveal the inner life and motives of his characters. This he does, not merely through their action—but also through the use of monologue and the mask. 'Strange Interlude' is marked for its extravagant use of the monologue."

"Future Humanity,"

Prof. Orr's last point was the message of O'Neill. He said, "O'Neill presents us always with a picture of humanity, half blindly groping, struggling toward the light. Throughout, he gives us his message—that dreams and dreams are the only way to live and that we must live even though they are sometimes illusions. His tragedy usually ends in an exaltation of spirit."

But that and give a Yell!

BUNCO FOR GIRLS

The Y. W. C. A. is holding a Bunco party on Monday, Oct. 21, at 8 o'clock in Jacobs' hall. This party will be for girls only and should prove to be a way of getting better acquainted. The entertainment is under the charge of Kathryn Bloss. Cleo Butler has care of the decorations and Helen Mosher the refreshments. Preparations are being made to accommodate 50 guests. All the girls on the campus are heartily invited to attend this party and help to make it a success.

Omaha Red Cross Budget Decreased

Community Chest Cuts Former Amount to $11,541; Has Emergency Committee

The Omaha chapter of the American Red Cross will operate during 1930 on a budget of $11,541, the amount specified by the Omaha Community Chest, a total decrease of $150 from the current year's operating budget, according to Dr. A. C. Stokes, local Red Cross chairman.

Pays $4,500 Dues

Of the total budget, $7,041 will be spent for home service work, relief of disabled war veterans, life-saving and the volunteer service department, with $4,500 to be paid as dues to the national Red Cross organization.

The disaster relief policy of the Red Cross, believes Dr. Stokes, is often misunderstood. The basis for awards from such funds is need rather than the amount of loss, he contends.

Is Ready to Act

The Omaha Red Cross stands ready to act immediately to prevent suffering in case of any disaster in the city or vicinity, and maintains standing committees which could instantly provide food, shelter, clothing, and medical care for the victims. However, the organization cannot attempt to make good any loss of property and possessions of persons financially able to stand such a loss," states Dr. Stokes.

Walter S. Jardine is chairman of the emergency committee of the local Red Cross chapter.

Logan Praises New Omaha Vested Choir

Professor Noel J. Logan of the Conservatory of Music has announced that the present University of Omaha Vested Choir is made up of the most select group of singers that he has ever directed in any university.

There are now twenty-five members in the choir with a few openings for male voices.

The choir is studying several of the numbers that were presented last year. Two of the most popular sacred numbers are "Built On A Rock" and "Cherubim Song."

Rehearsals which were held only once a week since the choir was organized will be held three times a week soon, according to Mr. Logan.

EDUCATIONAL FACULTY MEETS O. M. E. BRUGGER

Miss O. M. E. Brugger, nationally known for activities in pre-kindergarten work, was on the University of Omaha campus Wednesday morning, Oct. 9.

Miss Brugger conferred with Dean Gilbert W. James and Professor Irwin A. Hammer during the morning regarding the advance of educational work in Omaha. At noon she was the luncheon guest of Mrs. Charles T. Chittenden. Miss Brugger and Miss Frances Wood, Miss Brugger took part in the pre-kindergarten education department at Columbia university this summer. She has been supervising state research work at Mills College, California.

OMAHA PRESENTS THE "MESSIAH"

Sacred Oratorio Will Be Given at City Auditorium on December 16

SPONSORED BY UNIVERSITY

On the evening of December 16, the city of Omaha will have the opportunity of hearing the united University of Omaha Choral Union present the oratorio "Messiah" in the city auditorium. The noted Reginald Werrenwrath, baritone, will be included in the choir.

The Choral Union is under the direction of Professor Noel J. Logan of the Conservatory of Music of the University of Omaha. Mr. Logan has brought about the presentation after nearly two years of rehearsing.

Other Cities Join

Choirs from Council Bluffs, Missouri Valley, Logan, Glenwood, Tabor, Plattsmouth, Tekamah, Fremont, Blair and other cities will augment the Omaha organizations. Church choirs are especially invited to join in with the student choir, according to Mr. Logan.

The presentation of the "Messiah" is one of the largest musical undertakings in the history of the university. Faculty members and students have volunteered to aid in putting the presentation over in a way that will be a boost to the Omaha university, said Mr. Logan.

Notables Included

Included among the singers are Madame Arend, soprano; Lillian Knowles, contralto; and as before mentioned, the noted Reginald Werrenwrath.

The Choral Union president is Mr. Leslie Martin of Omaha.

W. F. Baxter Lauds Muny University

Claims Better Colleges Bring Leaders of Other Cities to Omaha

W. F. Baxter, chairman of the Publicity committee of the Greater Omaha association, recently said of a municipal university:

"Enlarge Sphere"

"Colleges in this city are constantly enlarging their sphere of influence and make up much of the cultural background of this community. They attract educators of prominence whose addresses and achievements rebound to the benefit of our people. These institutions annually bring into our midst a large number of educated youths of both sexes who contribute their influence along cultural lines."

Fans Spend Money

"Incidentally, the large athletic contests attract thousands of fans who spend money during their attendance at games. Our colleges attract the leaders among the youths of the surrounding cities."

The Omaha Chamber of Commerce has been busy for several months compiling statistics regarding universities.

FORMS NEW MUSIC GROUPS

Professor M. J. Logan of the Music Conservatory has announced the organizing of Ladies' and Men's quartets the personnel of which have not yet been decided.

Mr. Logan is also planning two glee clubs to accommodate those persons who are unable to enter the University Vested Choir.

ONWARD MUSIC

Omaha is indeed fortunate in having at the head of the Conservatory of Music of the University of Omaha such a leader as Professor Noel J. Logan. It will be the duty as well as the privilege of every citizen to support every project which the Conservatory undertakes. Omaha is becoming music-conscious.

Professor Logan has recently announced that he has secured the noted Reginald Werrenwrath, whose rich baritone has thrilled so many music-lovers of this land, to sing the new oratorio "Messiah," which will be presented to Omaha as soon as rehearsals are completed.

Other singers of note who will take part in this tremendous oratorio include Madame Arend, soprano; Lillian Knowles, contralto; Edwin Kempt, tenor.

The Omaha Choral Union has more than 500 voices which will be augmented by select groups from Council Bluffs, Missouri Valley, Tekamah, Fremont, Plattsmouth and Blair. A total of 1,000 voices will complete the final choir when the "Messiah" is presented.

The University of Omaha is heartily in favor of the presenting of such an oratorio and expects Omaha to show its appreciation when the oratorio is presented on December 16.

THE MUNICIPAL UNIVERSITY MOVEMENT

The last decade has shown an astonishing increase in Junior and Four Year colleges owned and controlled by the Municipalities in which they are located. This movement toward city institutions of Higher education is constantly on the increase which proves beyond doubt the advisability of such schools.

Many cities of less than ten thousand population now have colleges of their own. They have found that these colleges bring a desirable element to their cities, and hold the desirable element which would otherwise leave for universities located in other places. They have found that business is stimulated, that the school brings in money from surrounding communities and helps to keep money in the home community, that the expenses of maintaining these schools is over-balanced by these expenditures of students. They have found that the Municipal college or university raises the tone of the city, adds to it in beautiful buildings, increased population of the right kind, and, in general, raises the level of the city in every way.

If other large cities have proved to themselves the value of the City University, and if the smaller cities have found that the college is a necessity, does it not seem that Omaha may be passing up a real opportunity in neglecting the chance for a Municipal University?

Are you boosting the Municipal University Movement?

HERE WE COME, DANA

Dana, you are an old enemy through tradition. We are going to nab your scalp again this year. We have two wins in our sack right now and you are next.

We lost a little game to Chadron last week and we are very upset and ready to go. You are going to have a hot time on the League field this Saturday.

We showed you what we could do with a light team last year. We showed you off the turf by a 20 to 0 score. That score is going to be, oh—on big, this year.

We are not boasting, warning or trying to scare you. We are simply telling you. Take it or leave it.

All of the University of Omaha will be there. We have a big team lined up this year that is going to make you pick up your ears. A large part of Omaha football fans will be in the stands to see you lose. Lose? Absolutely.

Remember how to lose and it might as well be you. Don't get scared, Dana. Come on down and prepare to do battle. We crave your defeat. Let's go!

(Editorial—This was too good to kill even if Dana did cancel the date).

ELEVEN OMAHA STUDES ATTEND ANNUAL Y CONFERENCE AT ESTES

By VIVIAN KRISSEL

Get out your imaginations and picture leaving the University of Omaha on a hot day, two automobiles loaded with eleven people, eleven suitcases, coats, sweaters, and blankets galore. The happy crowd on last Commencement Day seemed like a merry family of twins, triplets, or quadruplets, or what-not, all dressed alike in white tams and red-and-white sweaters, leaving the old school for a two weeks vacation in the majestic mountains of Colorado at Association Camp near Estes Park. Maybe it is your memory which brings back this interesting scene of departure, or maybe you would like to know what happened on that thousand mile trip. All Set?

Y Sends Eleven

The delegates of the Y. M. and Y. W. who went were Maxine Deleven, Curtis Hultgren, Burd Arganbright, Harry White, Cleo McGuire, Wilbur Olsen, Linda Bradway, Donald Butler, Bernice Allen, Vivian Krisel, and the sponsor of the group, Mrs. Burd Detweiler of Millard. The trip took out in a thunder storm, hunting a hotel so long in Kearney, Nebraska, that all thought they would have to sleep in the cars or in the park. Finally the search ended by finding lodging in a one-horse house-hotel four hours and rising early, in fact, at three o'clock in the morning, to undertake the first lap of the second day's trip. After an uneventful day of driving, driving, and more driving, the two cars entered the mountains at six o'clock in the evening. One car arrived at the Camp in about two hours, but was into the second car which lost itself among the mountains and mounted to the top of the world only to drop down again just around a U curve. The night and darkness came on but the camp seemed farther away at every turn. After inquiring at inns, hotels, cabins, and camps of all descriptions, the lost and wandering car with its tired and weary cargo finally arrived none the worse for wear.

Many Lands Represented

Saturday, the first full day in camp, after scrambling for breakfast at the cafeteria when it was really too late to get a table, the personnel of the Conference was found to include students of every color and every race including Indian, Japanese, Chinese, Hawaiian, Porto Rican, and European. The leaders were from America, Europe, and China and of the highest caliber in character and experience.

Aunt Corrine, adopted by all the "kids" of her family, manned the ship of eats and a mighty fine leader she was! Men, women, and so forth participated in setting table, gathering pine cones for the fire, washing dishes and feeding pet chipmunks. Among those who enjoyed the hospitality of the U. of O. cabins for dinner were Lyman Hoover and his wife, student leaders who will go to China the first of next year as missionaries; Mr. Hutchinson, traveling Y. M. secretary of the colored branch of the Y; Kana Roa, a handsome student from India now attending Kansas University; Bill Braisted, Y. traveling secretary out of Omaha, and several others who were friends to all. During the evening meetings at the cabin, following the last address of the evening, Dr. Mendenhall from Friends University of Wichita, Kansas; T. Z. Koo from China; and Bruce Curry from the Union Theological Seminary of New York, led in interesting discussions which were devotional in character.

Has Athletic Afternoons

The meetings in the morning from 8:00 to 12:00 included early morning devotions, an address, informal discussion hour, colloquias, and another address. The program for the afternoon included hikes, mountain rides, climbs, slides on icy glaciers, opening of dangerous passes which had been closed since winter, nearly being blown off high rocky crags with nothing below but hundreds of feet of space, being buried chin-deep in snow, wading ankle-deep in mountain lakes, and sitting on rocks in the midst of rushing falls. All these were interesting features of the sight-seeing tours to Bear Lake, Fern Lake, Odessa Lake, Long Peak, and other mountains and lakes along the way.

Although the return at three o'clock in the morning to Omaha was not greeted by an interested crowd at school, each person felt that the trip was glorious in all its aspects; contact with the great personalities of the leaders, the learning to know students from all parts of the world, the meetings full of inspiration and widening outlook, and insight into world problems, with the close companionship made possible, by the stay together has been of untold wealth to the visitors. All was made possible at the Conference for Christian men and women at Association Camp, Colorado.

Tourist on European Tour—This Eiffel Tower is going to be a beautiful structure when it is finished. The frame work sure looks good.

Professor—What are you going to do when you graduate?
Student—You mean what am I going to do if I graduate.

Longmeyer—How many times are you going to change your mind.
Kuntzman—I'll pass.

Then coach Howard came in and told the boys it was time for signal practice.

Who's Who at the U. of O.

Miss Leona M. Giltmore, now instructor in Biology at the University of Omaha, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska from which she has both an A. B. and an M. A. degree. After teaching in Tipton, Indiana, she was an instructor in both the University of Oklahoma and the University of Iowa.

Miss Giltmore was very shy when questioned regarding herself, answering to most questions, "I don't know that there is much to tell." Such an answer was received when she was asked as to her hobby while in response to the question "What do you think of the University of Omaha and the student body?" she replied, "I haven't been here long enough to form clear opinions. That all takes time."

THE CUBS' CORNER

This literary corner is especially intended for the publication of amateur poetry and short prose selections written exclusively by the students of the University of Omaha. The encouragement of talent along literary lines is its earnest aim. Any contributions from students will be welcomed.

THE QUESTION

The weary sage arose and said
To his dozing audience:
"I know the cause of many things,
My mind is far from dense.
I ken the why of the trapezoid,
And the Holothuridae,
Of usquebaugh and yataghan
I can exemplify—"
Now, agape in awe, the audience
Digested every word.
They vowed this sage was wondrous wise,
The wisest they e'er heard.
"Just think," they said, "the trapezoid!
The Holothuridae.
Sooth, he the German's theory
Mayhap can mollify."
The sage how'er basked not in praise,
He was of troubled mind,
His features paled, his thin frame shook,
His eyes were else but kind.
The audience regarded him,
"A pregnant mind," they cried,
"The crisis of some theory
Before us he'll decide!"
But the sage croaked out in trembling voice,
His eyes were dying fire,
"To know a question that cancers me—
It is my last desire—
I ken the why of the trapezoid—
The Holothuridae—
But why—O, why, 'does a chicken—cross the—road?"
Was his expling sigh.

—Boh.

LEAVES AND LIFE

Falling leaf down to the ground
You go aflutter and slow
So sad yet glad
To leave so your dirty bough
For a sleeping town you have found.
Spring will wake for your sake
And find you with your kind
New and true
To bough fine, virgin but mind
To shake at Winter's first flake.
Life goes out with silent shout
We mourn and feel forlorn
So sad yet glad
Hearts torn with sojourn
To a new route and yet we doubt.
New life will wake for your sake
And find in a higher kind
Fine refined
A place kind; but ready to mind
And shake with Death's next take.

—Alas.

FURTHER DOPE ON LITTLE BERTRAM

(Gentle reader, you will recall that we left Little Bertram Beak, the innocent waifer, with his head caught under the asbestos curtain last week. Well, the janitor swept the stage and we couldn't discover our hero until we heard a twittering laugh in the offing and then we found him. The little dear was in the trash box with the rest of the rubbish.)

The Action Continues

Bertram: "Helgh, ho. What a clever place for a Knight Klub in Par's. I certainly love this wild life. I always did crave it, but I had to study too much when I was in college."

Enter Sad Susie, the little girl with the spade.

Susie: "Oh, kind sir, I beg your pardon."

Bertram: "Oh, fair maid. What have I done? What HAVE I done?"

Susie: "Nothing, only you see."

Bertram (interrupting—for what could he see) "Ah, but what have you there?"

Susie: "Oh, I am a gold digger. This is my spade."

Bertram: "So that is what you do with the body!"

Orchestra Leader: "Soft music, boys, while the curtain drops."

Law School Briefs
By W. E. S.

During the past week the members of the freshman class met their regular instructors for the term. Heretofore they have attended the preliminary class in Elementary Law conducted by Harland L. Mossman.

Beginning Friday, Oct. 18, Mr. Alexander McKie will meet a class in Argumentation composed of all but Senior students. Considerable interest is evinced in this course as would naturally be expected of those contemplating a legal career. Mr. McKie enjoys a wide and favorable reputation in this field having been a debater at Nebraska, coach of the Creighton debate squad, and a practicing attorney for some years.

The upperclassmen of the Law School were the recipients of a special course of lectures in legal Bibliography given by Mr. Henry F. Brandt of the West Publishing Company. The company supplies all the material and pays the expenses of the instructor for the course. Classes were well attended, students showing by their interest that they appreciated the favor extended.

Day after day, legislatures are constantly enacting new laws which judges are called upon through cases to construe. Naturally the record of all proceedings grows quite voluminous and it has become quite a problem to find the exact law as needed. A course such as this was could not help but to have been of great value to students attempting to find the law from these massive libraries.

Y. W. Discusses Aims at Meeting

Former President Explains Ideals of Organization; Leads in Forum

Linda Bradway led the discussion at the Y. W. C. A. meeting in the Conservatory on Tuesday morning, Oct. 8, at ten o'clock centering the remarks around the purpose of the organization. The purpose of the Y. W. of the University of Omaha is:

1. To create and maintain a wholesome social and moral atmosphere.
2. To promote school spirit.
3. To give students a world outlook.
4. To encourage a spirit of good will and helpfulness in the University of Omaha.
5. To lead students to accept Jesus as their Master and His will as the only way to realize the highest individual and social ideals.

"Have Good Will!" Several of the girls suggested ways to accomplish this purpose such as being friendly, having good will toward others, being individually an example of high moral character, promoting all wholesome school activities, and taking a definite stand openly against things about the campus which are not moral.

To promote school spirit, they suggested sponsoring Color Day, wholehearted participation in attendance and yelling at the games.

Y is Uniting Force

Another valuable contribution to school spirit is the uniting force which the Y organizations are on the campus. They exclude none and aim to be purely democratic in spirit. When the question was brought up, "Why do we want a world outlook?" the answers came back, "to broaden our individual horizon and viewpoint," "to show students at conferences such as Enten that there are other students all over the world with the same purpose and doing the same things that we do."

Quinn's Quips

The Danaites have won their games already this season, one of their victims being the strong Lutheran College eleven and the other York College. A win over Omaha along with these other victories would make the first half of their season a complete success, hence, they were out after Omaha Uni's eleven scalps.

While the Omaha Cards have not been entirely free from injuries, the squad is in good shape now. Usually Omaha is reputed to have the best outfit, but the overconfidence bugaboo sometimes gets into our ranks and takes away whatever advantage we may have before game time.

Some of the folks around school have been kicking about not knowing the numbers of the various football men, so here they are. All football fans (especially Scotchmen) had better cut them out and save them for the games to come.

Midland May Play for Dana Saturday

CHURCH SCHOOL TO MEET CARDINALS

Coch Howard's Boys Scare Away Blair Youngsters

League Park Game

The University of Omaha Cards have scheduled a tentative game with a fast team from Midland college for this Saturday to fill in the bad gap left by the withdrawal of the Blair Swedes.

Has Nine Lettermen

Midland has nine letter-men back under the direction of Coach Catlin who has directed football at Midland for seven years.

Dana Withdraws

Oct. 11, 1929.

Mr. A. J. Dunlap,
University of Omaha,
Omaha, Nebraska.

Dear Mr. Dunlap:

Our Coach, Mr. Fynboe, has just reported to me that four of our football men have received injuries in today's game with Cotner. Inasmuch as our squad consists of only thirteen men out of which a number have injuries, we do not believe the game scheduled with Omaha University for Saturday, October 19, would be worth your time or ours.

We regret that it has become necessary for us to cancel this game at such a late date but trust you will be able to secure stronger competition to take our place.

Very sincerely yours,

Erland Nelson,
Acting President.

Courageous Cards Drop One To Chadron

ELUSIVE EAGLE ESCAPES GRASP OF EAGER OMAHA TO WIN 33-13

Country Boys Forced to Fight and Show Worlds of Experience in Order to Take One From City

Chadron Presents Letter-Man Team

Absolutely swamped by a team from Chadron made up of letter-men who knew football for what it is, the University of Omaha Cardinals met the first defeat of the year in the N. I. A. A. contest held at League park on Saturday afternoon to the sad tune of 33 to 13.

Shifting Offense

No man dares to shout and spout about a terrible showing displayed by the Omaha gang, for there was none. Real courage and fight kept Chadron from completely walking all over the city boys. The game was not lost by Omaha but won by Chadron. A great offensive of shifting, side-stepping, Houdini-like men caused the courageous Omahans to knuckle down and grin while they bore it.

The first score of the fray which well showed that Omaha had a fight on hand that afternoon was made in the middle of the first period by Perry of Chadron who tore 32 yards to the 11' old goal line much to the Omaha's disgust. Perry did the whole thing all by himself. Just before scoring he had placed the ball on Omaha's 39 yard line with a 25 yard run. When Buckingham of Chadron made the next tally, Perry broke loose with a terrific place-kick which fizzled into nothing as it hit the bar.

Lanspa Is Eager

Perry went around the Omaha end as the second quarter began taking the pill from the Omaha five yard line. He was dropped on Omaha's one yard line and then Cheney jumped over for the next touchdown. On the try for point, Lanspa of Omaha got in too big a hurry, jumped off-sides and jumped back, too late to save the point from going to Chadron.

The next kick-off found Kuntzelman with a fumble in his hands as he tried to nab the ball on the Omaha 30 yard line. Begunin, Chadron man, pounced on the ball and held it for his own. Cheney tossed a little pass to Evans who carried it five yards. Perry went for two. Buckingham equalled it with two. Cheney made four more through the Omaha line for a first down on the 15 yard line. Evans made away with eight and Cheney stopped after he crossed the Omaha goal-line. Perry's place was a beaut and deserved the extra point.

Perry Stars

Kuntzelman's blocked kick recovered by Chadron on the Omaha four-yard marker left Perry with a great desire to tear across in one leap which he did. He place-kicked his own goal and the score was 27 to 6. Omaha tried to block a kick on Chadron's seven yard line and succeeded. Kuntzelman plunged along for three yards. Streitwieser took it for two. Kuntzelman made two more and a touch-down. Streitwieser's place kick was way low and the half closed with the score 27 to 6.

Imitating the University of Omaha head which paraded the field during the rest period, Chadron began a great march through, around, and over the Omaha gang. Chadron's last touch-down came in the final quarter when the Omaha boys were forced to fight from the 40-yard line back to their own goal where they failed to stop that fast team from the country. Buckingham had the honor of putting the ball over after tearing through Omaha for six yards. The try for extra point came in the form of a kick which was blocked.

Omaha Trys Air

Kuntzelman got over a little pass to Arthur who made 40 yards to land on the Chadron 17 yard line. Streitwieser fought through for seven more. Kuntzelman fought through for a first down on the Chadron 6-yard line. Streitwieser fought again and made 4. Kuntzelman crossed the line leaving the last 2 yards behind him. Chadron was off-side and the point was scored for Omaha.

Perry and Buckingham of Chadron must be given the high-spots of the game. No one man on the Omaha squad can be picked as playing the brightest game. The entire gang worked together and showed real courage and fight.

Cards Are All-Star

Coch Howard of Omaha had the boys all primed to start an aerial attack should the country lads prove to have the stuff. The aerial attack seemed way out of line with Omaha. Chadron carried a few ball tossers and made good use of them. The game looked like modern war-fare with punts and passes galore. There was a continual see-saw up and down the field that made the linesmen earn their money.

Statistics:

HORSE-PLAY AND FOOTBALL

The University of Omaha has a lively Pop Squad which deserves the highest commendation for presenting entertainment of an unusual sort during the Chadron game. We don't know whose idea it was when the band played "Keep The Home Fires Burning" but it was a good one just the same. To see stern students attired in clown outfits made even the honored faculty sneak a snicker in private.

So much for the entertainment. When the rest period at the half was over, the entertainment should have been over. It wasn't.

When the Cardinals were way down at their own end of the field, fighting as only Cards know how to fight, the entertainment was going on. It was going on because a few wise-heimmers in the stands got a greater kick out of laughing at the clowns than yelling for one side or the other.

Hurray for the the entertainment during the half. Hurray for the team when it is playing. Forget horse-play and get your mind on the game. Don't get mad after reading this. Read it a couple times more and there is a slight chance that you may grasp the meaning.

HERE'S TO THE TEAM

The University of Omaha football team was defeated by a mere matter of a couple of touch-downs when the boys from Chadron, Nebraska, came into the city to play last Saturday.

Chadron presented a real football team. It is a team with worlds of experience. It is a team with many plays known only to advanced football men. It has a fast shifty back-field that seems to fairly ooze through any line, no matter how air-tight, that it may meet.

The Cardinal team is composed of new men for the most part. The University of Omaha still has a reputation for being a two-year school, a school for pre-students who finish their schooling at larger colleges. It is almost impossible to hold the same team from year to year at Omaha. Ever seeking higher knowledge, the football men who play on the Omaha team finish their pre-training and move on each year.

Chadron has accomplished a feat in presenting a team of letter-men this year. It is seldom that any school in the N. I. A. A. conference can turn out a letter-man squad.

Omaha did not bow to defeat. Omaha Cardinals met defeat with fight, fight and more fight. When the final foot closed the game, the Omaha boys were staging a third rally, a rally which would have brought the conflict to more even terms had time not been called.

The University of Omaha was for the team before the Chadron game, when the game is over and we have seen the spunk displayed by our Cardinals, we are for you more than ever. Our love and all to you, team. There's to you!

TRANSPORTATION AND THE PART IT PLAYS IN THE MACHINE AGE

ANALYSIS of our so-called "Machine Age" civilization would require volumes, but it can be summarized in a few words. The average citizen today enjoys, as a matter of course, ordinary daily necessities that were beyond the reach or even the dreams of Egyptian Pharaohs, the Greeks in their "palmist" days, or Roman senators in the hey-day of their ascendancy.

These things are made possible as a result of mass production by the use of machinery—power driven—and our system of communication and distribution which is, of itself, more marvelous than any development of our present-day, complex scheme of things. And that distribution has been made possible by and absolutely is dependent upon our railroads.

In any final analysis we come back to first principles. Without the railroads our frontiers could not have been extended, vast reaches of our country could not have been developed—our rural populations, at great distances from the centers of industrial production could not have enjoyed the benefits of this mass production, and our great industrial population centers could not have been supplied with even the raw materials of manufacture, to say nothing of food from our farms and the basic commodities for clothing and shelter.

More than that, if specific examples are sought we need only to look at the spectacle of California products competing with Texas and Florida in New York, and Florida products successfully competing with those of other sections in the middle west and north, while those of Texas compete successfully at the very doorsteps of both California and Florida. All this is possible wholly and solely because of our railroad transportation.

All of this progress and amazing development—our "Machine Age" civilization—is based primarily on widespread general prosperity and the prosperity of each region, community and group is vitally dependent on railroad transportation. General prosperity is dependent on purchasing power and that, in turn, again, is dependent on adequate and dependable transportation by rail.

The railroads are willingly and gladly carrying their full share of the burden and cheerfully contributing a full measure of their quota to the whole situation. They expect to continue to do this. And to this end—

I solicit your co-operation and support.
